Roosevelt Issues Brief Statement to All Who Wrote Him; Offers Hand to Foes for Richer, Freer, Happier Nation

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(UP)—President Roosevelt, through his advisors, held out his hand today to his political opponents.

His advisors said that he had no thought of reprisal or oppression and that he hoped sincerely all the bitterness of the campaign would be forgotten so that the United States could be made "a richer, freer, happier country."

DAVEY ASSURED HOUSE SUPPORT NEXT TWO YEARS

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey, re-elected by a plurality of more than 150,000, will be able to operate the state government for the next two years under a completely Democratic administration.

All of his elective associates heading state departments will be Democrats after Jan. 1. Both houses of the state legislature will have overwhelming Democratic majorities.

The state senate will include 31 Democrats and five Republicans; the house of representatives 105 Democrats and 35 Republicans. Final returns on Tuesday's election may change these figures somewhat in district where the results are in doubt, but they cannot change the political alignment of the general assembly.

The defeat of Sen. Frank E. Whittemore of Akron removed the Republican floor leader of the state senate.

One state race remained in doubt today. With returns from a few Cuyahoga county precincts still out, Judge Roy O. Williams had a slight lead over Judge William L. Hart for one supreme court judgeship. The vote stood: Williams 890,600; Hart 888,604.

With 8356 of the state's 8620 precincts reports, President Franklin D. Roosevelt had an Ohio plurality of more than 550,000. The vote was: Roosevelt 1,645,474; Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican, 1,093,980; William Lemke, Unionist, 114,271.

President Roosevelt polled the greatest vote ever given a presidential candidate in Ohio.

CHIC SALE, NOTED ACTOR, WRITER CRITICALLY ILL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5.—(UP)—The condition of Charles (Chic) Sale, film comedian suffering from lobar pneumonia, was reported unchanged today at Good Samaritan hospital.

His physician, Dr. Roy E. Thomas, said "no immediate crisis is expected" but declared Sale's condition remained critical. The actor was placed under an oxygen tent to aid his breathing.

Only his wife was allowed to visit him.

LANDON STUDIES PLAN TO RETIRE TO FARMING LIFE

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 5.—(UP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon may retire from the governorship of Kansas to a farm near Topeka instead of the old home at Independence, it was believed today.

The Governor and Mrs. Landon have been looking at several farms near Topeka, friends said, and it was thought they might stay here to be near Peggy Anne, 19, the oldest daughter, who is a student at the University of Kansas.

Gov. Landon would not discuss his plans except for the immediate future. His political future after his defeat as Republican nominee for the presidency was not settled by any means, he indicated. He planned to confer next week with John D. M. Hamilton, the fellow Kansan and Republican national chairman who engineered him into the nomination.

Until January 1, when his term as governor is ended, he has plans only for a week of duck hunting and for strict attention to his work as governor.

"Beyond that," the governor said, "I cannot discuss my plans, because I have not made any definite ones."

NEARLY 400 POLES DOWN IN DISTRICT

Williamsport Isolated As All Telephone Facilities are Disrupted by Heaviest Snow in History on November 4

SCIOTO RIVER BECOMES DANGEROUS

Electric Light Service Endangered as Branches Fall Off Trees Throughout City

Broken electric poles, wires and trees laid in the wake Thursday of Circleville's heaviest early snow storm on record. It amounted to five and one half inches.

The Citizens Telephone Co. estimated between 350 and 400 poles were broken by the heavy snow on the Circleville, Ashville and Williamsport exchanges. More than 700 telephones were put out of commission by the storm.

Williamsport was isolated from phone service Thursday morning. Lines leading to the village from Circleville, Mt. Sterling and Washington C. H., were down. In Ashville 40 of the 43 rural lines were out of commission. On one stretch of road east of Ashville about a mile and a half of poles were down. Toll service was maintained. It was estimated 200 poles were down in the Ashville district. The Laurelville exchange reported little damage.

BOY, 14, ADMITS ASKING $3,000 IN EXTORTION PLOT

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 5.—(UP)—A 14-year-old boy confessed today that he attempted to extort $3,000 from L. C. McKinney, Titusville banker, "under penalty of death," federal and local officials announced.

Clarence H. Falkenburg, Jr., told authorities he got the idea of "making some easy money" by reading newspaper stories of an attempt by a mid-western boy to obtain cash from Shirley Temple, child actress.

He was arrested last night while en route to a street intersection to "collect" the money. Local officers and special agents of the federal bureau of investigation were waiting for him.

Question by Chief of Police Dan F. Campbell and federal officers, the boy admitted, police said, that he had composed an extortion note, mailed October 25, which demanded that $3,000 be left at the street corner and threatened death to McKinney and members of his family.

HITLER AGREES TO PLAN ENDING SUBMARINE WAR

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Adolf Hitler has pledged Germany to sign an agreement outlawing ruthless submarine warfare, it was said authoritatively today.

Delegates of the United States, the British Empire, Japan, France and Italy are to sign the agreement tomorrow. Robert Worth Bingham, the American Ambassador, will sign for the United States. Germany is expected to sign later, and other powers will be invited to adhere.

Under the agreement, the commander of a submarine must not sink a merchant ship unless he can get the crew, passengers and ship's papers into a safe place. He may not put them in lifeboats unless land is close—and close relatively, according to conditions of weather and wind—or a rescue craft is near.

able to leave his automobile to go to Mr. Hunsicker's office where Dr. G. D. Sheets was called. Mr.
Myers died before the physician
could reach Woodlyn.

He had resided all his life at "The Knoll," the family home. He was a son of John J. and Mary McCafferty Myers. Surviving are the widow, Etta Hoyt Myers and a son, John William Myers of New Orleans, La.

Mr. Myers was a civil engineer
by profession and was a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university. He spent several years in engineering projects in the west and was overseer of a large project in the Everglades in the south several years ago.

He was a member of B. P. O.

Roosevelt Issues Brief Statement to All Who Wrote Him; Offers Hand to Foes for Richer, Freer, Happier Nation

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(UP)—President Roosevelt, through his advisors, held out his hand today to his political opponents.

His advisors said that he had no thought of reprisal or oppression and that he hoped sincerely all the bitterness of the campaign
would be forgotten so that the United States could be made "a richer, freer, happier country."

Today the president will receive a courtesy call from Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state. The cardinal will be his guest at luncheon. Tonight Mr.
Roosevelt will return to Washington.

Mr. Roosevelt this afternoon will turn to a further study of the sweeping vote that assured him of another four-year lease on the White House. He planned to analyze the vote in relation to its meaning regarding administration as well as the extent of Democratic gains over 1932.

Meanwhile, he issued this brief
statement to the nation:
"I find myself nearly buried by an avalanche of thousands of letters and telegrams. It is heartening to have this assurance that we are going forward together. I would like to thank each of you individually for your confidence and pledges of loyal support. Will each of you accept this as my acknowledgment and my thanks for your message?"

Messages from all parts of the world continued to pour into White House headquarters at Poughkeepsie showering Mr. Roosevelt with

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 5.—(UP)—
Gov. Alf M. Landon may retire from the governorship of Kansas to a farm near Topeka instead of the old home at Independence, it was believed today.

The Governor and Mrs. Landon have been looking at several farms near Topeka, friends said, and it was thought they might stay here
to be near Peggy Anne, 19, the oldest daughter, who is a student at the University of Kansas.

Gov. Landon would not discuss his plans except for the immediate future. His political future after his defeat as Republican nominee
for the presidency was not settled by any means, he indicated. He planned to confer next week with John D. M. Hamilton, the fellow Kansas and Republican national chairman who engineered him into the nomination.

Until January 1, when his term
as governor is ended, he has plans only for a week of duck hunting and for strict attention to his work as governor.

"Beyond that," the governor
said, "I cannot discuss my plans, because I have not made any definite ones."

Williamsport Isolated As All Telephone Facilities are Disrupted by Heaviest Snow in History on November 4

SCIOTO RIVER BECOMES DANGEROUS

Electric Light Service Endangered as Branches
Fall Off Trees Throughout City

Broken electric poles, wires and trees laid in the wake Thursday of Circleville's heaviest early snow storm on record. It amounted to five and one half inches.

The Citizens Telephone Co. estimated between 350 and 400 poles were broken by the heavy snow on the Circleville, Ashville and Williamsport exchanges. More than 700 telephones were put out of commission by the storm.

Williamsport was isolated from phone service Thursday morning. Lines leading to the village from Circleville, Mt. Sterling and Washington C. H., were down. In Ash-ville 40 of the 43 rural lines were out of commission. On one stretch of road east of Ashville about a mile and a half of poles were down.

Toll service was maintained.
It was estimated 200 poles were down in the Ashville
district. The Laureville exchange reported little damage.

Extra Men Called
Four extra men were employed by the telephone company Thursday morning to aid in clearing lines. Aid was asked also from the Wilmington exchange.

Telephone and electric light wires leading from poles into homes were snapped by the undue burden. Employees of the Southern Ohio Electric Co. worked half of the night clearing trouble and repairing broken poles.

Following the snow storm came the danger of a severe flood in the Pickaway county lowlands. Dr. H.
R. Clarke reported the Scioto river was seven feet above normal Thursday morning, was out of banks and the amount of drift indicated it was steadily rising. The stream went up five feet Wednesday and Wednesday night.

Melting Snow Added
Dr. Clarke explained the melting snow would add more to the flood dangers. The rain and snow water in the 24 hours preceding 7
a. m. Thursday amounted to 1.18 inches making a total of 3.50 inches for November.

"We have never had an early snowstorm like this one in the 25 years I have been recording," Dr.
Clarke said.

Circleville's fire alarm system
went out of commission Wednesday afternoon when trees
throughout the city began snappling. Residents were warned to report fires by telephones until the damage is repaired. It had not been corrected at noon Thursday.

Six employees of the city service department worked Wednesday night clearing the streets of broken tree limbs. Practically every street in the city was lined with broken limbs. Using two trucks, they hauled limbs until 7
p. m. then stopped hauling and confined their work to keeping the streets clear. They resumed their hauling Thursday morning. The service department reported no serious damage to homes or parked cars by the falling limbs. The heavy snow bent tree limbs so low over the sidewalks pedestrians
had to walk around them.

Traffic Slowed Down
Highway traffic was slowed down to a crawl Wednesday afternoon and evening while pedestrians had their first workouts of the season on wading through slush, skidding on slippery sidewalks and dodging splashes from autos.

The lowest temperature recorded Wednesday night was 23 degrees
while the peak Wednesday was 59.

The snowfall started in mid-morning and transformed the landscape into an unusual winter scene.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 5.—
(UP)—A 14-year-old boy confessed today that he attempted to extort $3,000 from L. C. McKinney, Titusville banker, "under penalty of death," federal and local officials announced.

Clarence H. Falkenburg, Jr., told authorities he got the idea of "making some easy money" by reading newspaper stories of an attempt by a mid-western boy to obtain cash from Shirley Temple, child actress.

He was arrested last night while en route to a street intersection to "collect" the money. Local officers and special agents of the federal bureau of investigation
were waiting for him.

Question by Chief of Police Dan
F. Campbell and federal officers, the boy admitted, police said, that he had composed an extortion
note, mailed October 25, which demanded that $3,000 be left at the street corner and threatened death to his family.

COMPARED TO JACKSON

"Dictatorial in Manner, Democratic in Essence"

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5 — (UP)—William Randolph Hearst, publisher and one of the most militant of President Roosevelt's opponents in the late campaign, made a friendly and conciliatory gesture toward the New Deal today in the Guild Daily, published by and in support of striking editorial workers of his suspended newspaper, the Post-Intelligencer.

Comparing Mr. Roosevelt to Andrew Jackson, Hearst said: "If Andrew Jackson's policies were essentially Democratic, why is it not reasonable to concede that Mr. Roosevelt's policies may be equally so — dictatorial in manner and method, but Democratic in essence?"

The Guild Daily had asked Hearst for a statement. From New York the publisher telegraphed that he was inclined to believe his first estimation of the president, when he supported him in 1932 and compared him to Jackson, had been more nearly right than his view during the campaign.

felicitations on his overwhelming victory. Several stenographers were kept busy sorting them out and dispatching them to his desk.

Mr. Roosevelt arrives in Washington tomorrow morning for a week or more of intensive government business.

The president spent most of yesterday studying returns but took time out in the afternoon to attend the christening of his youngest grandchild, Kate Roosevelt, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt. The baptismal ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Frank Wilson, rector of St. James Episcopal Church at Hyde Park of which Mr. Roosevelt is senior warden.

MITCHELL, WOOD COUNTY, VICTOR
IN HUSKING BEE

Pickaway County Men Fail to Make Trip to Field
at Apple Creek

19 MEN IN COMPETITION

John Van Zandt of Henry County Finishes Second

WOOSTER, Nov. 5 — (UP)—
Richard Mitchell of Wood county,
as Ohio corn husking champion,
will compete against champions
from other states in the national husking contest on the Oyer farm
in Licking county, Ohio, next Tuesday.

Mitchell won the state contest in a sleet and snow storm on a farm near Apple Creek yesterday. He husked 15 bushels, 53½ pounds in one hour. Nineteen entered the competition but four quit before the time limit was up.

Raymond Kennedy of Franklin county, 1935 champion, was forced to withdraw half way through the contest because of illness.

Paul Winn of Ashville and Robert
Reynolds of near Yellowbud, Pickaway county winners, did not complete. They believed the weather too bad to attempt the trip.

GLADYS GEORGE
CROSBY'S GUEST

Bruna Castagna and Warren
William Booked,
Too

Gladys George played the role of a movie queen on a personal appearance tour in a play called "Personal Appearance" on Broadway. This year she made a picture of the same name and for the last few weeks has actually been making a personal appearance on tour of the country in connection with the opening of the film. Tonight she comes to the Music Hall
as Bing Crosby's guest for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 10 p. m.

Bruna Castagna, distinguished contralto of the Metropolitan, and Warren William, screen actor are other famous guest stars billed for this show.

Word hasn't yet reached Hollywood whether Miss George's personal appearance tour extended as far as Van Buren, Arkansas, but Bob Burns will surely be on hand to find out about that.

Bruna Castagna, who made a hit in "Carmen" last year, will sing a group of numbers in the Music Hall broadcast. As for Miss George and Warren William

they are likely to do almost anything in the entertainment line besides acting. Bing has made it an unbreakable rule that when he entertains screen stars they're excused from acting for the evening.
All they have to do is "be themselves."

Last week, for instance, Cary Grant turned up singing songs in Cockney dialect and Elissa Landi
read a poem she had written herself. Surprises are the rule in Bing's show so anything can happen. Whatever happens, music for it will be provided by Jimmy Dorsey's band and alleged music
by Bob Burns' bazooka.

On Valuee Cast

With six stars already booked
for the Variety Hour tonight, Rudy Valuee has added another.
She is Olivia De Havilland who joins a cast which includes Cab Calloway, Peter Lorre, Sheila Barrett, Tom Howard, George Shelton and Eddie Conrad. Miss De-Havilland is currently starred with Errol Flynn in the motion picture,
"The Charge of the Light Brigade."

Miss De Havilland will be featured with Peter Lorre in the drama, "Prelude to Murder." This was written by Arch Oboler specially for the Valuee program. The Variety Hour will be broadcast over the NBC red network at 8
p. m.

FORD DEALERS
GO TO DETROIT
TO SEE NEW CAR

Bound for Detroit to take part in the first assembly of all Ford dealers ever held by the Ford Motor Company, Hamilton, Rogers, C.
H. Heveling, Harley Colwell, Alfred Lee and Tom Renick, all associated with the Pickaway Motor Sales, Inc., local Ford organization, left here Thursday for a two-day visit to the motor city.

They will join other dealers of this territory at Columbus, Thursday night and will continue from there to Detroit on a sixteen-car special train which has been chartered to carry the Columbus

Branch dealer group.

In Detroit, in company with about 7,000 more dealers from all parts of the United States and Canada, the local men will see the new Ford V-8 for 1937. While there, they will also visit the rough ground

the world's largest trial development.

PEALS COURT JUDGES GATHER IN CITY NOV. 11

Kern Guardianship Action
May Be Decided After Long Argument

TO DECIDE CROSS TITLE

Appeal in Bruce Cartright
Case is Overruled

Motion to dismiss an appeal in the case of James Bruce Cartright against Anna Lou Cartright, Ashville, was overruled Wednesday in an entry filed in common pleas court by judge of the Court of Appeals.

The entry explains numerous proceedings were held in this case in the common pleas court. They resulted in a judgment dismissing the petition of Mr. Cartright, which sought an annulment of his marriage, the granting of a divorce to Mrs. Cartright on her cross petition, and awarding her the custody of a minor child and an award for the support of the child. Following the overruling of a motion for a new trial the case was taken to the Court of Appeals.

Meets Nov 11

The next session of the Court of Appeals here will be held on Nov. 11. Three cases are on file for consideration. One is in the matter of the guardianship of Phillip Isaac Kern, of Columbus, former resident of Jackson township, involving the dismissal of the guardianship. The case was heard in common pleas court by Judge H. M. Rankin of Washington C. H., as a visiting judge. It had previously been heard in probate court by Judge J. W. Adkins. Judge Rankin held for the continuance of the guardianship.

Another case on file on file is that of the Columbus Production Credit Association against Carl and Gilbert Dowden, appellees, concerning the title to 90 head of hogs. A levy was taken on the hogs on a judgment. Mr. Dowden claimed the hogs as his property under a conditional sale contract.

Judge Adkins held in favor of Mr. Dowden.

The third case is that of the Central Standard Realty Co., Columbus, against Ella N. and L. M. Hoeler Columbus, owners of Pickaway county land. One-half interest in 67 acres of corn by the Hoelers was sold at sheriff's sale to satisfy a cognovit judgement. The corn was purchased by Mr. E. Swackhammer, of Mt. Sterling. A motion was filed to set aside the sale on the grounds the price was inadequate. Judge Adkins set aside the sale and the case was appealed by Mr. Swackhammer.

to one hundred. We are now learning to count by tens.

This week we are making curtains for our little house. Those who have learned to sew at home are helping those who can't sew. Several pupils have brought rags to make a rug for our house. The rags are being cut in strips and sewed together.

Last week we made a little wooden boat that would travel. It was cut with a coping saw. A rubber band with a piece of wood in the middle was stretched across the back of the boat. When the rubber was twisted it would move the boat as it untwisted.

The stories in Our Weekly Reader were about boats and other ways of travel. There was quite a lot of excitement in the room when we found that our boat would travel.

Second Grade News
For the past two weeks the second grade has had 100% attendance.

In English class each one told orally something he has seen at the Pumpkin Show. In drawing each one drew a picture of something which they thought was most interesting to them. The greatest number of pictures drawn about anyone person was the lady doing the high diving act.

We are making preparations for a Halloween party for our class for Thursday afternoon. Those on the games committee are: Mary Rodgers, Lucille Neal, Jacquelyn Rush and Russell Younkin. Those on the refreshment committee are: Ivan Schooley, Peggy Davis, Betty Lou Haughn, and Dick Hinton.

In art class we are making masquerade hats and masks.

Third Grade News
The pupils in the third grade have enjoyed cutting out circles from colored paper and making different figures from them. Among the pictures made were the sailor boy, a dutch girl, jack-in-the-box, a little chick, and a dog pulling a cart.

During the past week Halloween decorations have been made for the room, such as the owl with orange eyes, the elf with green eyes and jack-o'-lanterns from pumpkins.

Thirty-one pupils were present every day during the six weeks.

Fifth Grade News
The ones on the honor roll for the six weeks are all girls. Here are the names: Anna Davidson, Emily Jane Hall, Betty Jane Walker, and Jean Davis.

We have started our new six weeks pretty good. We were out Friday for the Pumpkin Show, but now the Pumpkin Show is over Sheets won 1st, 2nd, and 3rd on a colt; John Willbarger won first on his calf.

In the class organization Jack Walker was elected President; Marjorie Hill, Vice President; Nellie Noggle Sec-Treas, and Robert Reigel class reporter.

Freshman News
The first meeting of the Latin Club was held Oct. 19, 1936. We also chose Societ as Latin as our club name. Fourteen of the fifteen members were present. The officers were: Consuls, Doris Hill and Evan Dean; Quaester, Mary Jean Henson; Censor, Virginia Hill.

The program committee for the next meeting which will be November 25, are Gardner Beatty, Chairman, Mary Jean Henson and Warren Beers. We are divided into two different groups.

In Literature some students are building boats for our sand table of Treasure Island which we are planning to start soon. Alva Layton went back to the eighth grade.

Ethel Foreman has received a working certificate.

In Algebra we are finding the axioms of equations.

In General Science we are going to start having a test every day or so.

Sophomore News
Two from the Sophomore class attended the masquerade surprise party held at the home of Clara Thraill on Monday eve, October 25. Those attended were Harold Gudek, Martha Jane Hott and Opabelle Beavers. Each had a marvelous time.

The Honor Roll of the Sophomore class for the first six weeks is Opabelle Beavers and Sarah Pollard.

The Sophomores gave the first chapel program Wednesday Oct. 21. The program committee was Cleo Hoover, Grace Hill and Louise Clark.

Several from the Sophomore Class has perfect attendance for the first six weeks.

Junior News
Each member of the Problems of Democracy Class secured a copy of the booklet issued by Lowell Thomas which was used as a study guide for one class period. Each person filled out the answers to the questions at the end of the book.

The World History Class made special reports on the gods and goddesses of Greek.

The following pupils in the Junior Class made the Honor Roll for the first six weeks: Dorothy Beavers, Rosemary Hennick, Audrey Johnson, Thelma Norris.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches and aches on colds and flu are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. Tired kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MIKE, 5, FRETS OVER HOSPITAL BAN ON CIGARS

McKEESPORT, Pa. (UP)—Nurses and doctors at McKeesport hospital would acclaim 5-year-old Mike Olekik as "the perfect patient" if it were not for Mike's intense desire to get a stogie between his teeth every now and then.

Young Mike who has attained the maturity of five years and some odd months, suffered a broken leg. Mike wants to leave the hospital and go home so he can enjoy a smoke. Mrs. Olekik, the boy's mother, said Mike has been smoking cigars, cigarettes and pipes since he was a year and a half old—and added that Mike won't refuse a chew of tobacco if it is offered. To stop Mike from picking up discarded cigars and cigarettes, Mrs. Olekik said, she had to buy the boy a package of cigarettes every few days.

Hospital authorities have been adamant. Mike will get no cigarettes.

MORE ABUNDANT LIFE
ALL sorts of news comes from Washington and some of it is good. In particular there's an item about holiday turkeys. It tells an anxious nation that 20,000,000 birds were on hand to carry us through from Thanksgiving to New Year's Day. Last year there were only 15,000,000. This means, of course, that the well-known festive board will be required to bear up under the added burden of 5,000,000 extra turkeys.

Come what may in the way of election results, wars, weather and taxes, the prospect is filled with bright promise. With 20,000,000 turkeys available for consumption, there cannot be very much that is fundamentally wrong with the country, even though the birds are reported as being somewhat younger and lighter than a year ago. Even now, a contemplation for the future provides reason for delightful anticipation.

A turkey in the pan, just beginning to assume a golden brown, his breast a-bulge with chestnut dressing and his shanks standing sentinel on either side, the aroma floating through the house, and finally the great moment when the bird, done to a turn, takes his place on the table for the fulfillment of his destiny.

This, ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls, is a prospect to warm the heart. It is something to look forward to as the leaves fall, the sun ascends higher in the heavens and the nights grow long and the days colds.

HIGHWAY MORTALITY
IF the present trend continues during the remainder of the year, approximately 40,000 persons will be killed in automobile accidents on the highways of the United States during 1936. This is a shocking price to pay for the conveniences and the comforts of motor travel and the record is one to cause some measure of discouragement, in view of the energy with which the nation-wide drive to save life on the highways has been directed.

The report on the National Safety Council on the nation's total deaths in motor vehicle accidents for the first nine months of the year shows a slight increase over the same period in the preceding year. There is in prospect an all-time record for the full year.

The increase is not great, however, in view of the fact that the comparison with last year does not take into account that American car operators during these nine months drove fifteen billion more miles and with each additional mile driven there were increased opportunities for accidents.

The fight for highway safety makes dis-

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WHICH WAY ROOSEVELT?
WASHINGTON—Now that the roar and smoke of the election have subsided, the chief question in the mind of the country is: WHICH WAY ROOSEVELT? Will he go left or right? Will he continue on a radical-liberal course? Or will he become more conservative?

To give an inclusive and categorical answer to this question would be sheer pretence and bluff, for the reason that Roosevelt himself probably does not know now just what attitude he will take on all issues.

The best answer is that Roosevelt will continue about as he has. He is a catch-as-catch-can fighter. He himself once compared his attack on the depression to the tactics of a football team—an end run, a line charge, a back-field huddle.

Continuing the comparison, Roosevelt is best as a broken-field runner. He can zig-zag and dodge, but he keeps his goal-posts pretty well in sight. And through one play or another, he makes progress toward them.

That is more or less what he is going to do for the next four years. He may yield here, or pull his punches there, according to the reaction of public opinion. But you can mark it down in the book that he will continue a definite left-of-center course along the general line he has followed so far.

SPECIFIC ISSUES
To be more specific, here are some of the big issues sure to arise during the next four years, and the general policy which Roosevelt's closest friends expect him to follow:

SUPREME COURT—He will buck the Court. Some months ago John L. Lewis urged him to make the Court an issue during the campaign. To this the President replied: "Now is not the time, John. Wait until after elections."

The degree of Roosevelt opposition will depend upon the degree to which the Nine Old Men oppose his policies. If the President's stubborn Dutch temper is aroused, he will strike and strike hard.

SOCIAL SECURITY, MINIMUM WAGES—On this Roosevelt will go left, and emphatically so. The action of the Supreme Court in throwing out the New York Minimum Wage Act and the NRA deeply aroused him, almost as much as the Republican attack on the Social Security Act. The latter he considered "contemptible," "unpatriotic" and "vicious." He would have passed more legislation on this anyway, but he is doubly sure to do so now, and more drastic measures than otherwise.

THE BLUE EAGLE—There will be no new NRA, but some of the basic features of the NRA will be put forward again, such as minimum wages, maximum hours, and child labor restrictions.

TAXES—Or this Roosevelt will go right, if he can. He believes it will be possible to hold down taxes because of increased revenues resulting from better business. In any event, he will go easy on taxes for the time being.

courageously slow progress. Nevertheless, the objective is vital and it should go ahead.

THE TUTTS by Crawford Young

To Exercise or Not to Exercise, Is Problem

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE TIME of year has come when the great international problem of how to get exercise when nature outside is not favorable to golf, tennis or walking, becomes acute.

Dr. Clendingen

What percentage of the population lies to the gymnasium this time of year I have no way of knowing, but it must be relatively small. For those who like it, it's all right. For anybody over 45, the sweatshirt, handball and squash rackets are pretty much all wrong. Under any circumstances, the atmosphere of the gymnasium, which is that of stale sweat, is for the few, and all of them young.

I do not believe anybody's life is prolonged by exercise in a gymnasium. In my youth I did eagerly frequent such places, and my admiration for the big-muscle boys with the deltoid and sartorius rippling under the white skin, was unbounded. But, living in a small town where everybody knows everybody else, I have the unhappy faculty of checking up on the health enthusiasts, and I am here to report that the big-muscle boys die off like flies in the fifties or, at least, just as fast as anybody else.

However, that is not bedroom exercising.

Mr. Lewellys F. Barker, whose recent book, "Live Long and Be Happy," contains a great deal of very sensible advice for those who are facing middle age where, you remember, life begins in such a big way, says, under the heading of "Personal Habits and Longevity":

"Regular exercise in the open air, suited to the age, sex and occupation of the individual, is helpful; what is suitable for one person might be disadvantageous to another. In youth, each person should develop skill and liking for some special form of physical activity that may be kept up with pleasure and benefit in later life. Walking, tennis, golf, handball, swimming, horseback riding and gardening are some of the activities that can be pursued with advantage for a large part of life."

"A few gymnastic exercises before and after the morning bath can be very helpful for persons engaged in occupations that make participation in outdoor exercise difficult except on half-holidays or Sundays; the exercises described in J. P. Muller's 'My System' (with chart), in Dickson and Dively's 'Exercise for Health and Correction', in Sanford Bennett's 'Old Age, Its Cause and Prevention', and in R. T. McKenzie's 'Exercise in Education and Medicine', have been found helpful by many."

For those not inclined to bedroom exercises, I recommend as a comfortable and, to me, sound doctrine, the one expressed in a little book called "Exercise Without Exercises," by S. Arthur Devan.

Mr. Devan says, "The daily dozen in setting-up exercises are for the most part useless. . . . There is another way of building up bodily strength and vitality and shapeliness, that is easier and a hundred times more effective."

We will discuss this more at length tomorrow.

CHAPTER 39
ALIX, SITTING at her host's right, at Gretchen Newbold's dinner party, smiling graciously, as a guest of honor should, thought:

"I should take careful note of all the details of such things as this. In a little while I will be a hostess. I'll have to think of silver and linen and flowers. I'll refer to Bill as 'my husband' and all the strange new things that are coming into my life as 'my this' and 'my that.'"

She tried to tabulate what she saw in her mind. Red roses in white glass. White candles in silver candlesticks. Twelve-inch salad plates. Three—no—four forks. The maid waits by the pantry door, the butler at the sideboard. You had to know these things when you were married.

Her dreamy wandering gaze met Bill's across the table. As though he divined the pattern of her thoughts, he smiled at her reassuringly and Alix felt a familiar warmth.

It was nice to feel that there would always be someone like Bill around.

It would have been ecstatic to have another man with you all your life. But few people know or want ecstasy, and the nice things were not to be scorned.

There were hot, fluffy cheese biscuits served with the green salad on the 12-inch plates.

"Good land!" Alix thought, "I'll have to learn all these things." She thought of the simple dinners she had cooked and served, the little party dishes and cold suppers back in that apartment on the East River. She thought of all the unusual dishes that were being served at this dinner. And of all the other things she didn't know.

"Penny for your thoughts, or can't you tell them?" George Newbold whispered into her left ear, bringing her out of her reverie.

Alix laughed and said, "I guess I can, but perhaps I ought not to. I might shock Bill." She said his name, but suddenly she looked down the table to where Dorcas Hill in white crepe looked back at her with an immobile face.

"I can stand anything she has to say," Bill said nobly.

"It's not very interesting," Alix wondered why she went on at such length. She was bored with the whole idea herself, but she felt impelled to say what she had to say the while she looked at Dorcas Hill.

"I was just thinking that I haven't the least idea how many sheets and pillow cases, towels and tablecloths a bride should have. I was just thinking that I wouldn't have the remotest idea what to tell a cook about preparing food. I was also thinking that I'll probably never be able to check up the laundry, and will undoubtedly never have a bit of butter in the house. Bill, would you like to get out of this engagement?"

They all laughed because Alix looked so completely sincere.

"If he would, Alix, you can have me," Will Boyd, Sr., proffered.

"I'd marry you just to have you around to look at," Tom Thatcher said. And his wife said, "Really?" Tom didn't say anything else.

"Well, let's all look at each other in the drawing room." Gretchen rose and her guests followed. It was stuffy in the dining room. The candlelight flickered in the draft from the crack of an opened window. The rain beat against the windows in torrents.

Alix and Gretchen sat on a lounge back of the coffee table and, while Gretchen served them, the girls crowded around Alix.

"Is the honeymoon destination going to be a secret?" someone asked Alix.

"Ye-es," she said hesitatingly, and realized that she hadn't the least idea what they were going to do about a honeymoon.

"You can at least tell us what you are going to wear going away," another girl said.

Alix was going to dismiss it by saying, "Oh, just a blue suit," but she saw Dorcas looking at her again. She couldn't get away from the reproach in Dorcas' eyes. She realized that she wasn't acting like a bride-to-be. Knew that things were expected of her for Bill's sake.

"I'd love to tell you about it," she said with animation. "I'm wearing a dressmaker suit of navy eponge. Made with soft lines and lined with a small-patterned printed taffeta. My blouse is made of the same material. The hat is small navy felt with some kind of a feather on it. It's all very simple." There! That was the best she could do.

It wasn't a very good best she soon realized. They were waiting, expecting more of her.

"I've some other things I think you'll like. There's a black velvet dress, and a gray wool with a cluster of embroidered flowers where you would wear a corsage at the belt. And let me see . . . oh yes, I've a yellow house coat." She gritted her teeth mentally and wondered why you had to share such silly things with everyone else.

"You girls have nothing to do but talk about clothes all day. Let's get this party going." It was George with a tray of highballs.

The party did "get going." After the third highball, when Alix was thinking with longing of her soft bed, the party had arrived at the "let's dance" stage.

Rugs were rolled back, chairs shoved against the wall and George knelt before the radio to tinker with it. Through the raucous static, a dance band came on. Bill claimed the first dance with Alix. She went into his embrace gratefully. She was tired and she wouldn't have to talk to Bill. He twirled her twice around the floor and led her out to an empty room.

"Like the party?" "Of course, I do, Bill. I think it's terribly sweet for all your friends to do things like this for you."

I think if we were to start in our own home, get used to each other, and then go off in a month or two, it would be much better, don't you?"

That was the first time she had ever seen surprise on Bill's countenance. A sort of shocked surprise.

"But, Alix! Er . . . I thought the honeymoon was something every girl sort of . . . well . . ."

Hastily she said, "I thought it would be easier for you, Bill. I'm so forgetful, you might find me an annoyance instead of a help. I'd probably discover I'd forgotten my cold cream or the tickets or something. I told you I was going to be a difficult wife. Where would you like to go?"

"We'd better join the others," she said. "They might think it impolite for us to run away by ourselves."

"Lovers have been known to do that," he said drily.

There was a sudden silence in the drawing room when they entered it.

George Newbold held up his hand and said in a loud whisper, "Special news bulletin."

The static cleared and the carrying voice of an announcer came over the air:

" . . . interrupt this program to bring you a special news bulletin from the Press Radio bureau . . . the privately owned plane of William J. O'Leary, noted sportsman, reported missing in a return flight from Los Angeles to New York, crashed this afternoon in the Catskill mountains . . . there was no loss of life but all members of the O'Leary party are reported in critical condition from injuries. The plane carried the owner; his wife, Mrs. William O'Leary; Carole Cushing, socialite member of the movie colony; Rafael Cordoba, well-known actor; John Sayre, New York advertising man, and Pilot Phil Hart. For further details see your local newspaper."

ATLANTA SCHOOL NEWS

First Grade
We are very proud of our attendance record for last month. We had two weeks of 100 per cent attendance. For the whole month the percentage was 98 per cent.

We have a November calendar made of turkeys and pumpkins.

A new boy enrolled in our room this week, Billy Sullivan from Clarksburg. This makes our enrollment ten boys and nine girls.

Second Grade
We made pumpkin faces for Halloween and we also had a Halloween party in our room Thursday afternoon.

The Redbirds are starting to do subtraction problems and they find them great fun.

Third and Fourth Grades
Joe Sullivan has entered the fourth grade from Clarksburg. We made health posters last week.

This week we are going to make turkey spelling booklets.

At our Halloween party we decorated drinking cups and had milk and cookies for refreshments.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
We had the attendance banner this week.

Mrs. Ward Dean was a visitor last Thursday and attended our Halloween party held in our room.

We have an enrollment of 29 pupils. Darlene Hancock has been transferred to the Lancaster schools.

We have been working on a Pilgrim unit for this month.

Spelling honor roll, Carolyn Gerhardt, fifth; Mary Marguerite Kearns, sixth.

High School
School was dismissed last Thursday so the teachers could attend the Educational conference in Columbus.

The American Democracy class conducted an election as to the ruling party of America. In the eyes of the class the victory goes to Landon and Bricker. This was done to give the class a lesson on how to vote.

The American Literature class is now studying biographies of the different literary periods. The one in study at the present is of Benjamin Franklin.

FOREST RANGER SNARED IN NET SET BY YOUTHS

HONOLULU (UP)—A group of Hawaiian boys look back on the experience of catching a U. S. forest ranger in what was probably the most remarkable bird net ever woven on the islands.

The net, 40 feet long and 7 feet wide, made of human hair in meshes an inch square, was spread on 10-foot poles across a swampy place. The net was so finely woven as to make it almost invisible and at the same time so flexible that it could be rolled up and cried in pocket.

Ranger Thomas R. McGuire, seeing the boys, whom he suspected of shooting birds, made a dash for them and suddenly found himself enmeshed in the net.

By a peculiar quirk in the Hawaiian fish and game laws, nets cannot be used for snaring animals, but nothing is said about birds.

As a consequence, all the rangers could do was to have the boys get him out of the bird net and continue his duties elsewhere.

PANCAKES AND ROSES
PASADENA, Cal., (UP)—Pasadena's next annual New Year's Tournament of Roses parade won't be all roses this time. Permission has been granted for the entry of a giant pancake float.

MORE ABUNDANT LIFE

ALL sorts of news comes from Washington and some of it is good. In particular there's an item about holiday turkeys. It tells an anxious nation that 20-000,000 birds were on hand to carry us through from Thanksgiving to New Year's Day. Last year there were only 15,000,000.
This means, of course, that the well-known festive board will be required to bear up under the added burden of 5,000,000 extra turkeys.

Come what may in the way of election results, wars, weather and taxes, the prospect is filled with bright promise. With 20,000,000 turkeys available for consumption, there cannot be very much that is fundamentally wrong with the country, even though the birds are reported as being somewhat younger and lighter than a year ago. Even now, a contemplation of the future provides reason for delightful anticipation.

A turkey in the pan, just beginning to assume a golden brown, his breast a-bulge
with chestnut dressing and his shanks standing sentinel on either side, the aroma floating through the house, and finally the great moment when the bird, done to a turn, takes his place on the table for the fulfillment of his destiny.

This, ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls, is a prospect to warm the heart. It is something to look forward to as the leaves fall, the sun ascends higher in the heavens and the nights grow long and the days colds.

IF the present trend continues during the remainder of the year, approximately 40,000 persons will be killed in automobile accidents on the highways of the United States during 1936. This is a shocking price to pay for the conveniences and the comforts of motor travel and the record is one to cause some measure of discouragement,
in view of the energy with which the nation-wide drive to save life on the highways has been directed.

The report on the National Safety Council on the nation's total deaths in motor vehicle accidents for the first nine months of the year shows a slight increase over the same period in the preceding year.
There is in prospect an all-time record
for the full year.

The increase is not great, however, in view of the fact that the comparison with last year does not take into account that American car operators during these nine months drove fifteen billion more miles
and with each additional mile driven there were increased opportunities for accidents.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WHICH WAY ROOSEVELT?

WASHINGTON — Now that the roar
and smoke of the election have subsided, the chief question in the mind of the country is: WHICH WAY ROOSEVELT?

Will he go left or right? Will he continue on a radical-liberal course? Or will he become more conservative?

To give an inclusive and categorical answer to this question would be sheer pretence and bluff, for the reason that Roosevelt himself probably does not know now just what attitude he will take on all issues.

The best answer is that Roosevelt will continue about as he has. He is a catch-all-catch-can fighter. He himself once compared his attack on the depression to the tactics of a football team—an end run, a line charge, a back-field huddle.

Continuing the comparison, Roosevelt is best as a broken-field runner. He can zig-zag and dodge, but he keeps his goal-posts pretty well in sight. And through one play or another, he makes progress toward them.

That is more or less what he is going to do for the next four years. He may yield here, or pull his punches there, according to the reaction of public opinion. But you can mark it down in the book that he will continue a definite left-of-center course along the general line he has followed so far.

To be more specific, here are some of the big issues sure to arise during the next four years, and the general policy which Roosevelt's closest friends expect him to follow:

SUPREME COURT—He will buck the Court. Some months ago John L. Lewis urged him to make the Court an issue during the campaign. To this the President replied: "Now is not the time, John. Wait until after elections."

The degree of Roosevelt opposition will depend upon the degree to which the Nine Old Men oppose his policies. If the President's stubborn Dutch temper is aroused,
he will strike and strike hard.

SOCIAL SECURITY, MINIMUM WAGES — On this Roosevelt will go left,
and emphatically so. The action of the Supreme Court in throwing out the New York Minimum Wage Act and the NRA deeply aroused him, almost as much as the Republican attack on the Social Security Act. The latter he considered "contemptible," "unpatriotic" and "vicious." He would have passed more legislation on this anyway, but he is doubly sure to do so now,
and more drastic measures than otherwise.

THE BLUE EAGLE—There will be no
new NRA, but some of the basic features of the NRA will be put forward again,
such as minimum wages, maximum hours,
and child labor restrictions.

TAXES—Or this Roosevelt will go right,
if he can. He believes it will be possible to hold down taxes because of increased revenues resulting from better business. In any event, he will go easy on taxes for the time being.

courageously slow progress. Nevertheless,
the objective is vital and it should go ahead.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE TIME of year has come when the great international problem of how to get exercise when nature outside is not favorable to golf, tennis or walking, becomes acute.

What percentage of the population
hies to the gymnasium this time of year I have no way
of knowing,
but it must be relatively small.
For those who like
it, it's all right.

For anybody
over 45, the
rackets are pretty much all wrong.
Under any circumstances, the atmosphere of the gymnasium, which is that of stale sweat, is for the few, and all of them young.

I do not believe anybody's life is prolonged by exercise in a gymnasium. In my youth I did eagerly frequent such places, and my admiration for the big-muscle boys with the detoid and sartorius rippling under the white skin; was unbounded. But, living in a small town where everybody knows everybody else, I have the unhappy faculty of checking up on the health enthusiasts, and I am here
to report that the big-muscle boys die off like flies in the fifties, or at least, just as fast as anybody else.

However, that is not bedroom exercising.
Mr. Lewellys F. Barker, whose recent book, "Live Long and Be Happy," contains a great deal of very sensible advice for those who are facing middle age where, you remember, life begins in such a big way, says, under the heading of "Personal Habits and Longevity":

"Regular exercise in the open air, suited to the age, sex and occupation of the individual, is helpful; what is suitable for one person might be disadvantageous to another. In youth, each person should develop skill and liking for some special form of physical activity that may be kept up with pleasure and benefit in later life.
Walking, tennis, golf, handball, swimming, horseback riding and gardening are some of the activities that can be pursued with advantage for a large part of life."

"A few gymnastic exercises before and after the morning bath
can be very helpful for persons engaged in occupations that make participation in outdoor exercise difficult except on half-holidays or Sundays; the exercises described in J. P. Muller's 'My System' (with chart), in Dickson and Diveley's 'Exercise for Health and Correction', in Sanford Bennett's 'Old Age, Its Cause and Prevention', and in R. T. McKenzie's 'Exercise in Education and Medicine', have been found helpful by many."

For those not inclined to bedroom exercises, I recommend as a comfortable and, to me, sound doctrine, the one expressed in a little book called "Exercise Without Exercises", by S. Arthur Devan.
Mr. Devan says, "The daily dozen in setting-up exercises are for the most part useless. . . . There is another way of building up bodily strength and vitality and shapeliness, that is easier and a hundred times more effective."

We will discuss this more at length tomorrow.

FLOWERS AT HER FEET

By MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 39

ALIX, SITTING at her host's right, at Gretchen Newbold's dinner party, smiling graciously, as a guest of honor should, thought:
"I should take careful note of all the details of such things as this. In a little while I will be a hostess. I'll have to think of silver and linen and flowers. I'll refer to Bill as 'my husband' and all the strange new things that are coming into my life as 'my this'
and 'my that.'"

She tried to tabulate what she saw in her mind. Red roses in white glass. White candles in silver candlesticks. Twelve-inch silver plates. Three-no-four forks. The maid waits by the pantry door, the butler at the sideboard. You had to know these things when you were married.

Her dreamy wandering gaze met Bill's across the table. As though he divined the pattern of her thoughts, he smiled at her reassuringly and Alix felt a familiar warmth.

It was nice to feel that there would always be someone like Bill

It would have been ecstatic to have another man with you all your life. But few people know or want ecstasy, and the nice things were not to be scorned.

There were hot, fluffy cheese
biscuits served with the green

Alix laughed and said, "I guess
I can, but perhaps I ought not to.
I might shock Bill." She said his name but suddenly she looked down the table to where Dorcas Hill in white crepe frock looked back at her with an immobile face.

"I can stand anything she has to say," Bill said nobly.

"It's not very interesting," Alix wondered why she went on at such length. She was bored with the whole idea herself, but she felt impelled to say what she had to cas Hill.

"I was just thinking that I haven't the least idea how many

The party did "get going".
After the third highball, when Alix was thinking with longing of her soft bed, the party had arrived at the "let's dance" stage.

Rugs were rolled back, chairs shoved against the wall and George knelt before the radio to

"It isn't for me, Alix, it's for us. We're going to make it all up to our friends. We'll give some grand parties when we get back.
A funny thing about that question about our honeymoon. We'd forgotten that entirely."

"Bill, you know I've always had a funny idea about honeymoons.
I think they're rather difficult.
Two strangers going off to start life under the most difficult conditions. I think if we were to start in our own home, get used to each other, and then go off in a month
or two, it would be much better,
don't you?"

That was the first time she had ever seen surprise on Bill's countenance. A sort of shocked surprise.

"But, Allie! Er . . . I thought the honeymoon was something every girl sort of . . . well . . .
Hastily she said, "I thought it would be easier for you, Bill. I'm so forgetful, you might find me an annoyance instead of a help. I'd probably discover I'd forgotten my cold cream or the tickets or something. I told you I was going to be a difficult wife. Where would you like to go?"

"Maybe you are right," he said
with averted eyes. "We'll talk it over tomorrow night. By the way,
I've got to run up to Sioux City tomorrow, but I'll be back by dinner time."

"We'd better join the others,"
she said. "They might think it impolite for us to run away by ourselves."

"Lovers have been known to do that," he said drily.

There was a sudden silence in the drawing room when they entered it.

George Newbold held up his hand and said in a loud whisper,
"Special news bulletin."

"The static cleared and the carrying voice of an announcer came over the air:

" . . . interrupt this program to bring you a special news bulletin
from the Press Radio bureau . . .
the privately owned plane of William J. O'Leary, noted sportsman, reported missing in a return flight
from Los Angeles to New York, crashed this afternoon in the Catskill mountains . . . there was no loss of life but all members of the O'Leary party are reported in critical condition from injuries.
The plane carried the owner; his wife, Mrs. William O'Leary; Carol Cushing, socialite member of the movie colony; Rafael Cor-

ATLANTA

First Grade

We are very proud of our attendance record for last month. We had two weeks of 100 per cent attendance. For the whole month
the percentage was 98 per cent.

We have a November calendar
made of turkeys and pumpkins.
A new boy enrolled in our room
this week, Billy Sullivan from Clarksburg. This makes our enrollment ten boys and nine girls.

Second Grade

We made pumpkin faces for Halloween and we also had a Halloween party in our room Thursday afternoon.

The Redbirds are starting to do subtraction problems and they find them great fun.
Spelling honor roll: Joe Drake,
Lucille Goldsberry, Judith Hignam,
Boyd Kearns, Marian Neff, June
Peck, Junior Rapp, Betty Skinner, Robert Slager, Albert Thacker, Dorothy Zimmerman.

Third and Fourth Grades

Joe Sullivan has entered the fourth grade from Clarksburg.
We made health posters last week.
This week we are going to make
turkey spelling booklets.
At our Halloween party we decorated drinking cups and had milk and cookies for refreshments.

Fifth and Sixth Grades

We had the attendance banner
this week.
Mrs. Ward Dean was a visitor last Thursday and attended our Halloween party held in our room.
We have an enrollment of 29 pupils. Darlene Hancock has been transferred to the Lancaster schools.
We have been working on a Pilgrim unit for this month.
Spelling honor roll, Carolyn Gerhardt, fifth; Mary Marguerite Kearns, sixth.
High School

School was dismissed last Thursday so the teachers could attend
the Educational conference in Columbus.
The American Democracy class conducted an election as to the ruling party of America. In the eyes of the class the victory goes to Landon and Bricker. This was done to give the class a lesson on how to vote.
The American Literature class
is now studying biographies of the different literary periods. The one in study at the present is of Benjamin Franklin.

FOREST RANGER
SET BY YOUTHS

HONOLULU (UP)—A group of Hawaiian boys look back on the experience of catching a U. S. forest ranger in what was probably the most remarkable bird net ever woven on the islands.
The net, 40 feet long and 7 feet wide, made of human hair in meshes an inch square, was spread on 10-foot poles across a swampy place. The net was so finely woven as to make it almost invisible and at the same time so flexible that it could be rolled up and crried
in pocket.
Ranger Thomas R. McGuire, seeing the boys, whom he suspected of shooting birds, made a dash for them and suddenly found himself enmeshed in the net.
By a peculiar quirk in the Hawaiian fish and game laws, nets cannot be used for snaring animals, but nothing is said about birds.
As a consequence, all the range
could do was to have the boys get him out of the bird net and continue his duties elsewhere.

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up since the morning before,
due to public interest in election returns, so just remained up. Out and about the town for breakfast and a bit of damp air, meeting up with Bob Maloney who asked "when will the Republicans hold their election?" There goes Lawrence Goeller, on his way home to bed and very happy, as he should be, because of the complete success of his first attempt at organizing and conducting a political campaign.
The Democrats have every right to be mighty proud of Lawrence.

Jingle bells. Everyone knows about the record snow and almost everyone now appreciates
that Christmas is only a hop, skip and a short jump away.

Here comes Ray Davis, the prosecuting attorney. He played support in the political campaign and a few evenings ago was pleased to make an address
in the auditorium at Jackson.
Made the trip by auto and entered Jackson for the first time, stopping for gas at a filling station and to ask directions.

"Where is the auditorium?" he asked the attendant. "Right out in the rear," was the answer.

Did meet Loring Hoffman,
the Pickaway township farmer,
who has two distinctions besides
the one of being a good farmer.
Loring trained the only Irish setter that ever won the National Field trials and he felt the only carload of steers ever to represent Ohio and win first prize at the International Livestock Show in London.

Enjoyed a brief visit with Carl Radcliff, the policeman, and from him did learn that Circleville's officers must buy their own ammunition for target practice, and when one uses a .38 calibre gun those shells come high. So do wonder why the city fathers do not buy a .22 target pistol for use of the policemen and enter them as a team in the newly formed Rifle and Pistol club. The idea is nine, not Carl's. A .22 pistol would cost little and would permit policemen to get many times more shooting practice

than they can afford now.

Saw my first copy of "The Buckeye," a typewritten publication of the high school. This is from it: Miss Rooney, the science teacher, was conducting a test about gravity. One of her pupils wrote: "I suppose God wondered what was going to keep us on earth, and so he invented gravity." In reply to another question in the same test a boy wrote: "Fogs occur in San Francisco harbor because it is a good place to hibernate."

Well, maybe the election results were not 100 per cent as all of us would have them, but we will get along just the same.
Despite all the pre-election dire forecast of this and former campaigns no one ever has yet wrecked America, the state or county and no one will do so.
Smile and think how fortunate
we are to be able to name the officials who rule us instead of having them crammed down our unwilling throats. Yes, we'll get by.

Method:
Sift flour once before measuring. Add to creamed mixture. Put into ungreased nine inch pan and bake ten minutes in a moderate oven.

Top Layer
Two eggs, well beaten
One cup brown sugar
Two tablespoons flour
One teaspoon baking powder
One-half teaspoon salt
One cup shredded coconut
One cup chopped nuts (preferably toasted almonds)
Mix in order given, adding coconut and nuts after mixture has been beaten. Spread evenly over slightly cooled baked bottom layer. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. When slightly cool cut in bars. Makes 27 bars one inch by three.

CROWD PLEASED WITH ACTIONS OF PINOCCHIO

"Pinocchio," the story of the marionette who wished to become a boy, was presented on the stage of the Cliftona Theatre Wednesday afternoon to a large and enthusiastic audience of children and grown-ups.

The Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre has told this famous old story in a series of incidents from the life of the little marionette, most effectively staged and capably acted. Lighting and scenic effects were well handled and the

If the moral side of the story, stressing obedience, truthfulness, industry etc., seemed a bit strongly put to some (and perhaps entirely overlooked by the younger element,) still the excitement of the scene before the Fire Eater's tent, the gruesomeness of the shark's interior, and the humor and beauty of many other scenes, afforded an afternoon full of entertainment for all.

ATHLETIC CLUB TO SPONSOR SERIES OF WINTER BOXING-WRESTLING SHOWS

THREE MEMBERS PUT IN CHARGE OF ACTIVITIES

First Public Performance Scheduled for Monday, November 16

GYM TO BE FIGHT SCENE

Aronson, Maloney, Hussey to Arrange Matches

The Circleville Athletic Club has voted to promote boxing and wrestling shows during the winter with Norman Aronson, Robert Maloney and Earl Hussey, all club members, in charge.

The first show is scheduled Monday, Nov. 16, with a 20-minute wrestling match featuring Eddie Watson, two 4-round boxing matches, and a main-go of six rounds.

The club is planning to book some fast boys in an effort to make the winter series popular.

Any youths wishing to participate in any of the contests, whether wrestling or boxing, are to contact any of the three promoters.

The Athletic Club gymnasium will be the scene of all contests.

BREACH WIDENS BETWEEN AKRON AND CONFERENCE

TIFFIN, Nov. 5 — (UP) — The breach between officials of the Ohio conference and the University of Akron was widened here today when Dr. Ira T. Wilson of Heidelberg college, the conference's president, took exception to statements made by Dean Fred Ayer in the current issue of "The Akron" Alumnus.

Dean Ayer, Akron's representative in the conference, presented the school's case in a meeting at Columbus October 5 when five of its football players were declared ineligible for the alleged failure to fulfill scholastic and residence rules of the league.

In his article in the "Alumnus" Dean Ayer was purported to have charged the "conference made itself ridiculous in the eyes of the public by its ruling."

"Dean Ayer presented only one side of the case when there are two," Dr. Wilson said.

"The conference is a voluntary association of schools, the representatives of which make the rules and agree to abide by them," Dr. Wilson stated, "any school that wishes to overstep the bounds of the conference rules is at liberty to resign. Several schools have done this when they decided to pursue an athletic policy involving the exploitation of their athletes."

The conference president said members committed themselves to obeying the "spirit of the rules" as well as their "letter."

ANDY URAM is a Minnesota football player, a triple-threat star. But he's also a special kind of insurance. Uram never has played on a losing team in high school or college. CHICAGO READY TO TRADE, SELL ENTIRE OUTFIT

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 — (UP) — The Chicago Cubs are ready to trade any man on the team, Owner P. K. Wrigley reiterated today but added he is finding few clubs willing to enter into negotiations with him.

"We are still shopping around trying to obtain players who will strengthen the Cubs," said Wrigley. "Get the men we want we'll be willing to part with any of our players. So far negotiations are at a standstill."

Among the players the Cubs are said to be nibbling at are Outfielder Hank Lieber of the Giants, Pitcher Paul Derringer and Third Baseman Lew Riggs of the Reds, Shortstop Arky Vaughan of the Pirates, Outfielder Wally Berger of the Bees, and Pitcher Bill Walter of the Phillies.

Dye, Williams Injuries Worry Coach Schmidt

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5 — (UP) — Seriousness of Tippy Dye's injury and loss of "Jumpin' Joe" Williams for the Chicago game Saturday, caused Coach Francis Schmidt to seek starters among reserves.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 — (UP) — Chicago's Lew Hamity and Clarence Wright were out for practice again, but Bob Fitzgerald, best Maroon punter, will not be available for Ohio. Coach Clark Shaughnessy substituted George Antonic for Bob Johnson at right tackle, to use Antonic as a kicker.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 5 — (UP) — Coach Bo McMillin indicated that because of rapid improvement of many reserves this week the Indiana lineup against Syracuse may be radically different. The squad drilled on pass defense and timing of plays.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 5 — (UP) — Although he realizes that Wisconsin is known for its upsets, Coach Lynn Waldorf indicated today sophomores probably would see considerable action against the Badgers this Saturday. Iggy Meece, fullback; Dick Wells and Wally Malloy, linemen, may get the call.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 5 — (UP) — "The player who shows spirit and willingness to play will be in there against Iowa," Coach Bernie Bierman told Minnesota players after secret drill. Usual first stringers may not get the starting call.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 5 — (UP) — The guard situation remained uncertain as the Iowa squad embarked for Minneapolis.

Notre Dame, Fordham are Favored

Coach, University of Michigan
ANN ARBOR, Nov. 5 — Along about this time in a football season a glance at the records ought to be about all anyone would need to figure out how things were going to work out on any given Saturday.

Such isn't the case. That series of upsets last Saturday afternoon leaves the dope books for this week so jumbled that the tossing of a coin might be about as good a way as any to forecast Saturday's results.

Guess Again!

Take a couple of this week's intersectional games as an example. Michigan States takes on Temple and Notre Dame tackles the Navy. After the Ramblers had taken their licking from Pitt you probably would have been willing to hand this contest to the Middies without an argument. But the men coached by Elmer Layden came back from their defeat and handed Ohio State some of the same.

That changes the story. There is no disputing the Navy strength, even though the team has been unfortunate in the matter of victories. They have been playing some tough teams and have been looking stronger than the scores of those games would indicate. The game is to be played in the east, but even with this handicap I think we will have to give the edge to Notre Dame, and to point to last year's 14-0 victory as another reason why the westerners have the better chance of coming out on top.

Times Changes Outlook

Three weeks ago we would have said that Temple was due to be just another Michigan State victim. But since then the boys from our own state seem to have lost a bit of their early-season sting. And Temple has been going strong, beating Holy Cross last Saturday. "Pop" Warner's team might very easily be considered the favorite for this game, but a hunch that State is going to hit its stride once more, plus a liberal of state pride, results in my giving Michigan State a very slight edge in this test between the east and west.

There are five other intersectional games this week, which makes it one of the most active in this particular of the entire season. The east furnishes just about all the competition. Creighton, the single exception, will entertain Marquette. That game won't hurt the midwest's reputation at all, for it should be another chance for Mister Bulvid and his mates to add a victory to their already long string.

Picks Rams to Stop Purdue
The Purdue-Fordham game, however, might turn out just the other way so far as the pride of folks hereabouts is concerned. Fordham has a fine all-round defense, with great power concentrated in the front line. This power should be enough to halt the capable Purdue offense in much the same way as the Minnesota line accomplished that task. Purdue squeezed out a victory over Carnegie last Saturday, but this battle down in New York City looks like something else.

Michigan invades the east when the Wolverines go to Philadelphia to tackle the mighty Penn team, beaten in but one of its games this year. The Quakers boast a veteran eleven and one which is itching to avenge a defeat suffered in Ann Arbor a year ago. But Michigan is just as anxious to win, for Penn still holds an edge in the long history of gridiron relations between the two schools, and besides, the matter of intersectional pride has something to do with it.

Likes Indiana's Chances

Indiana takes on Syracuse at Bloomington and that should be a Big Ten triumph. The Hoosiers have been going places this year and this game does not presage a break in the Indiana march to more glory.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 — (UP) — Chicago's Lew Hamity and Clarence Wright were out for practice again, but Bob Fitzgerald, best Maroon punter, will not be available for Ohio. Coach Clark Shaughnessy substituted George Antonio for Bob Johnson at right tackle, to use Antonio as a kicker.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 5 (UP) — Coach Bo McMillin indicated that because of rapid improvement of many reserves this week the Indiana lineup against Syracuse may be radically different. The squad drilled on pass defense and timing of plays.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 5 — (UP) — Although he realizes that Wisconsin is known for its upsets, Coach Lynn Waldorf indicated today sophomores probably would see considerable action against the Badgers this Saturday. Iggy Messer, fullback; Dick Wells and Wally Malloy, linemen, may get the call.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 5 — (UP) — "The player who shows spirit and willingness to play will be in there against Iowa," Coach Bernie Bierman told Minnesota players after secret drill. Usual first stringers may not get the starting call.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 5 — (UP) — The guard situation remained uncertain as the Iowa squad embarked for Minneapolis.

Coach Ossie Solem may start Shipley Farroh, Don Nelson, Eugene Liggett or Frank Gallagher. Al Schenk, sophomore, also may see action in the backfield.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 5 — (UP) — The Notre Dame squad started for Annapolis today without holding drill. The Irish will finish preparations at Annapolis for the Navy game.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 5 — (UP) — Illinois took it easy with no game scheduled for this weekend. Coach Bob Zuppke experimented with the backfield, moving Jay Wardley to left half, and transferring Lowell Spurgeon to right half, Wardley's former post.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 5 — (UP) — Purdue's Boilermakers left for New York, where they will put the finishing touches on their strategy designed to defeat Fordham Saturday. The squad was at full strength, with the exception of Bill Vergane, varsity end.

FOE FOR BARNEY ROSS HAS BOARD IN STRANGE FIX

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 — (UP) — The New York State Athletic Commission met again today to decide on an opponent for Welterweight Champion Barney Ross for a title

Notre Dame, Fordham are Favored

Coach, University of Michigan
ANN ARBOR, Nov. 5 Along about this time in a football season a glance at the records ought to be about all anyone would need to figure out how things were going to work out on any given Saturday.

Such isn't the case. That series of upsets last Saturday afternoon leaves the dope books for this week so jumbled that the tossing of a coin might be about as good a way as any to forecast Saturday's results.

Guess Again!
Take a couple of this week's intersectional games as an example. Michigan States takes on Temple and Notre Dame tackles the Navy. After the Ramblers had taken their licking from Pitt you probably would have been willing to hand the contest to the Midwestern without an argument. But the men coached by Elmer Layden came back from their defeat and handed Ohio State some of the same.

That changes the story. There is no disputing the Navy strength, even though the team has been unfortunate in the matter of victories. They have been playing some tough teams and have been really looking stronger than the scores of those games would indicate. The game is to be played in the east, but even with this handicap I think we will have to give the edge to Notre Dame, and to point to last year's 14-0 victory as another reason why the westerners have the better chance of coming out on top.

Times Changes Outlook
Three weeks ago we would have said that Temple was due to be just another Michigan State victim. But since then the boys from our own state seem to have lost a bit of their early-season sting. And Temple has been going strong, beating Holy Cross last Saturday. "Pop" Warner's team might very easily be considered the favorite for this game, but a hunch that State is going to hit its stride once more, plus a liberal of state pride, results in my giving Michigan State a very slight edge in this test between the east and west.

There are five other intersectional games this week, which makes it one of the most active in this particular of the entire season. The east furnishes just about all the competition. Creighton, the single exception, will entertain in no disputing the Navy strength, even though the team has been unfortunate in the matter of victories. They have been playing some tough teams and have been really looking stronger than the scores of

The Purdue-Fordham game, however, might turn out just the other way so far as the pride of folks hereabouts is concerned. Fordham has a fine all-round defense, with great power concentrated in the front line. This power should be enough to halt the capable Purdue offense in much the same way as the Minnesota line accomplished that task. Purdue squeezed out a victory over Carnegie last Saturday, but this battle down in New York City looks like something else.

Michigan invades the east when the Wolverines go to Philadelphia to tackle the mighty Penn team, beaten in but one of its games this year. The Quakers boast a veteran eleven and one which is itching to avenge a defeat suffered in Ann Arbor a year ago. But Michigan is just as anxious to win, for Penn still holds an edge in the long history of gridiron relations between the two schools, and besides, the matter of intersectional pride has something to do with it.

Like Indiana's Chances
Indiana takes on Syracuse at Bloomington and that should be a Big Ten triumph. The Hoosiers have been going places this year and this game does not presage a break in the Indiana march to more glory.

Bidding went: North, 1-Spade, third hand; South, 1-No Trump; North, 2-Diamonds; South, 3-Spades; North, 4-Spades. The only reason East failed to double was to conceal his strength, thus having a better chance to defeat the call.

East understood South's jump assist of spades, after having bid only 1-No Trump. He knew that the assisting hand could ruff diamonds. To cut down this as much as possible, East led his Ace of spades, followed by a low trump. Declarer ducked his 9 on the Ace, to make certain that dummy could be entered twice. The 8 of spades gave entry to dummy on the second round of trumps.

Dummy's 9 of diamonds was led. It lost to East's false-carded K. A low heart put declarer in with his lone K. The Ace of diamonds was led, followed by the J.

East covered. If he hadn't declarer would have passed the trick. He knew that East habitually false-carded. Dummy ruffed with the K. West followed suit. Now East had the hands counted, he thought, and also thought of a way to defeat the contract, as soon as he gained entry with his K of clubs. He would lead a diamond and West would ruff the trick, defeating the contract.

On dummy's Ace of hearts declarer let go his lowest club. To East's dismay the declarer did not lead a club from dummy. He led a heart and ruffed with his 10. He did not care if one opponent happened to be out of hearts also. Declarer led his Q of spades, picking up West's last trump. Then declarer led his good diamond. Things were not going at all to East's liking.

The Ace of clubs came next, giving declarer his ninth trick. Then came a trump lead for the tenth trick. At last declarer had to lead his Q of clubs. As this was led declarer said to East: "Well, here is your club trick." He had known just what East had planned to defeat the contract, so it did not work.

It is probable that as good a player as North would have gone game against any other strategy. It also is possible that East's opening trump lead showed how anxious he was to prevent dummy from ruffing that suit. East could just as well have led trumps later on. It also is possible that in case East for once had not false-carded his K of diamonds, declarer would again have led that suit but that is only a surmise.

COUNCIL TO DETERMINE TYPE OF PLANT TO BUILD FOR SEWAGE DISPOSAL

City Needs $3,500 to Aid In Construction of WPA Sewers

General Fund Running Low, Gordon Tells Officials

With approval of the $75,000 bond issue by voters for a sewage disposal plant, Tull M. Barnes, chairman of council's committee as a whole on the sewage disposal plant, informed members Wednesday night he would call a special meeting in the near future to start working out plans for the project.

One of the first matters to be decided will be the type of plant to be used, then plans will be prepared and an application filed with PWA for federal aid. Councilman C. O. Leist informed members the bond issue had received more than a 65 per cent vote.

Study Sewer Finances

Councilmen spent considerable time Wednesday night discussing finances for WPA sewer projects. David Courtwright, city engineer, said approximately $3,500 would be needed for projects. The storm sewer projects he listed were 600-foot extension on Northridge road, N. Pickaway street sewer, and extension of the east end system on Union and Clinton streets and Abernethy avenue necessary before the old stone box sewer can be abandoned. He reported about $1,000 would be needed to make a number of sanitary sewer extensions.

Councilman Frank Marion recommended immediate arrangements be made to correct the drainage on Watt street just east of Court street and on Scioto street just north of Main street. He explained there was no curb on Scioto street at this point and storm water flooded the sidewalk. Councilman Harry Steinhauer asked short extensions on W. Mill street near Court street and on S. Pickaway street between Mound and Union be installed as soon as possible to remove storm water.

Talk With Auditor

Councilmen referred the improvements to the service committee and engineer and suggested they work out arrangements with the city auditor to secure funds to finance some of the projects. Carl C. Leist, city solicitor, will report at the next meeting on the amount of bonds that can be issued for the improvements. A draft may be obtained from the county to take care of the work until tax funds are distributed.

Councilman Ben Gordon informed members of city's funds are running low at the present time. The auditor's office reported a distribution would be made about Dec. 1. City funds as of Nov. 4 were: general $262.86, library $2,349.28, auto license $1,084.01, gasoline tax $1,621.10 and the hospital had an overdraft of $331.42. Mayor W. J. Graham reported his fines and licenses for October amounted to $164.80. Receipts at Berger hospital during the month were $1,101.05.

Councilmen approved a report from Harry Steinhauer that the fire chief had been instructed to purchase new batteries for the alarm system and a box be installed on N. Pickaway street near Berger hospital. An ordinance providing funds for the improvements was passed by council several weeks ago.

FESTIVE ATMOSPHERE IN SAN FRANCISCO FOR $70,000,000 BRIDGE CELEBRATION

Golden Gate Prepares for Opening of 8-Mile Span

SAN FRANCISCO.—It's not every day a city celebrates the opening of a $70,000,000 bridge—longest in the world.
Consequently, the committee in charge of the opening of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge Nov. 12, have planned a four-day festival that may "out-Mardi Gras" New Orleans, and "out-New Year's Eve" New York's Times Square.
The celebration, which will begin on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, will be a virtual four-day holiday in San Francisco, Oakland and the other cities in the neighborhood of San Francisco bay.
At least 300,000 out-of-town visitors are expected to participate in the fête.
World-famous Market street of San Francisco will be decked in silver and rainbow-hued decorations suggesting an elongated bridge, while great silver structures will span the busy thoroughfare at eight different points.
The United States navy will stage a regatta Nov. 12, coincident with the dedication ceremonies. Thirty thousand officers and men from the fleet, assembled in San Francisco bay, will participate.
In the afternoon, the start of the Pacific coast yacht regatta will dot the entire bay with white sails. There will be races of fish boats, manned by hardy Italian fishermen from San Francisco's picturesque Fisherman's wharf... a lifeboat demonstration... a fireboat drill... outboard motor and rowing races... a Coast Guard and Sea Scouts' exhibition... swimming and diving events.
Colorful Pageant
A spectacular pageant of light will be held Saturday night, Nov. 14. Floats showing replicas of all the great bridges will move to the Civic Center, where grandstands accommodating 40,000 spectators have been erected. On each float will be singers and dancers representing the nation in which each bridge was built.
An even greater pageant of light will become a reality on the double-decked bridge, which spans San Francisco bay for more than eight miles.
No other highway lighting in the United States will equal the vast illuminating system of the bridge. Sodium vapor, a new achievement in lighting, will be utilized. Cheaper to operate than incandescent light, this vapor light contributes to night driving safety. It provides improved vision without glare and allows for elimination of headlights.
Extensive Lighting
The lighting system will illuminate approximately 15 miles of roadways, including the upper and lower decks of the bridge, the 16-lane toll station and the approaches. Each light, placed at a distance of about 150 feet, can be operated from a single control board.
Everyone in San Francisco and Oakland seems to be "bridge minded", according to the committee staging the opening celebration.
That is, everyone except bicycle riders, horse and buggy owners, and pedestrians! They are prohibited from using the new bridge.

NEW ART IDEA EMERGES FROM CARMEL COLONY

CARMEL, Cal (UP)—At last Carmel's art colony, supposed to be the cradle of new art ideas in America, has produced a paying one.

The idea is that of mural decorations done in charcoal only against a special background and covered with glass to make them permanent.

Francis McComas, internationally famous artist, is the founder of the innovation and already has a commission to do two huge murals in this new medium in one of the leading stores of San Francisco.

The two scenes to be depicted are the Spanish City of Ronda, famous for its picturesque setting on the edge of a colossal, sheer, white stone cliff, and the other an ancient Mexican patio, renowned for the architectural beauty of a series of surrounding arcades.

McComas has chosen as the mural background for his charcoal paintings an European material known as "Capagold" which provides a remarkable colorful, opalescent setting. The whole effect, however, will be in black and white with a glass covering.

The two murals in the new technique will be the first effort to combine sentimental Latin subjects with sophisticated modern Nordic architecture.

KAUTZ PRAISES SCOUTS, LEADERS FOR THEIR WORK

The general appearance and fine attendance at the meeting of Boy Scout troop 153, sponsored by Howard Hall post No. 134, American Legion, was lauded this week when Howard Kautz of Lancaster, executive for the Central Ohio area council, visited the city.

Scoutmaster Harry Timmons and Senior Patrol Leader Junior Barnhill were complimented for the splendid service the troop did during Pumpkin Show.

A business session preceded a game period after which the field executive reported the progress being made in the attempt to organize the county as a participating district of the Central Ohio area.

Baby Has Alligator Pet

OAKLAND, Cal. (UP)—The parents of Lucy Stassart, 17-months-old, believe that eventually she is going to be a professor of zoology. Instead of dolls, her two favorite playmates are a baby alligator and a horned toad.

Lava Adds 62 Acres

HONOLULU (UP)—Thanks to the activities of Mauna Loa, during its latest eruption, American soil was increased by 62 acres. The addition was made by the pouring out of 15,000,000 tons of lava.

With approval of the $75,000 bond issue by voters for a sewage disposal plant, Tull M. Barnes, chairman of council's committee as a whole on the sewage disposal plant, informed members Wednesday night he would call a special meeting in the near future to start working out plans for the project.

One of the first matters to be decided will be the type of plant to be used, then plans will be prepared and an application filed with FWA for federal aid. Councilman C. O. Leist informed members the bond issue had received more than a 65 per cent vote.

Study Sewer Finances
Councilmen spent considerable time Wednesday night discussing finances for WPA sewer projects. David Courtwright, city engineer, said approximately $3,500 would be needed for projects. The storm sewer projects he listed were 600-foot extension on Northridge road, N. Pickaway street sewer, and extension of the east end system on Union and Clinton streets and Abernethy avenue necessary before the old stone box sewer can be abandoned. He reported about $1,000 would be needed to make a number of sanitary sewer extensions.

Councilman Frank Marion recommended immediate arrangements be made to correct the drainage on Watt street just east of Court street and on Scioto street just north of Main street. He explained there was no curb on Scioto street at this point and storm water flooded the sidewalk.

Councilman Harry Steinhauser asked short extensions on W. Mill street near Court street and on S. Pickaway street between Mound and Union be installed as soon as possible to remove storm water.

Talk With Auditor
Councilmen referred the improvements to the service committee and engineer and suggested they work out arrangements with the city auditor to secure funds to finance some of the projects. Carl C. Leist, city solicitor, will report at the next meeting on the amount of bonds that can be issued for the improvements. A draft may be obtained from the county to take care of the work until tax funds are distributed.

Councilman Ben Gordon informed members of city's funds are running low at the present time. The auditor's office reported a distribution would be made about Dec. 1. City funds as of Nov. 4 were: general $282.86, library $2,349.28, auto license $1,084.01, gasoline tax $1,621.10 and the hospital had an overdraft of $331.42. Mayor W. J. Graham reported his fines and licenses for October amounted to $164.80. Receipts at Berger hospital during the month were $1,101.05.

Councilmen approved a report from Harry Steinhauser that the fire chief had been instructed to purchase new batteries for the alarm system and a box be installed on N. Pickaway street near Berger hospital. An ordinance providing funds for the improvements was passed by council several weeks ago.

OPERATING COST AT YALE PARED

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—Yale University, with an endowment exceeding $80,000,000, has embarked upon a comprehensive cost cutting campaign which promises to spare no effort in consolidating its resources and men in an attempt to reduce operating expenses to the barest minimum.

This extensive economy policy has resulted in a program of re-trenchment designed to eliminate unnecessary expenses, particularly in departments offering experimental courses that have attracted few students. Many courses have been eliminated altogether, especially in higher arts and classics.

As a result, many of the younger teachers have lost their positions and the faculty turnover for the year has been unusually large. Almost 50 instructors who last year taught in the graduate school are not now listed as teaching. In filling these gaps, the undergraduate school heads have appointed about 20 men.

Sections have been combined wherever possible and merged into large lecture-type courses at the expense of smaller, more informal classes. The number of courses directed by a teacher has also increased.

At the same time, a sizable increase in the freshman class enrollment for 1939 over 1935 is noted. There is now an enrollment in the new class of more than 850 while last year only 800 enrolled and in the previous year 750 freshmen entered the university.

Then, service employees still find themselves subject to a 10 per cent cut in salaries placed in effect last year. On the other hand students still pay 10 per cent more for room rent in the various residential colleges than they did previous to last year.

Clamor of the student body brought a compromise with the university following an announcement the Sterling Memorial Library's facilities would be unavailable on Sundays. To appease the undergraduates, the university then opened part of the library on Sundays, including the Reserve Book room. Commenting upon the order closing the library, the Yale Daily News undergraduate paper insisted that either the books be made available to students Sundays or that Mondays be declared holidays so that necessary reading could be done.
